

Kimie Tanimoto, PhD, RN

Professor

Faculty of Medicine, School of Nursing, Academic Group of Life Sciences
Kagawa University, Japan

Kimie Tanimoto is a professor in pediatric Nursing and a former vice dean at the School of Nursing, Faculty of Medicine, Kagawa University.

As a faculty member with clinical supervision responsibilities, she is responsible for teaching both undergraduate and graduate students, supervising students in clinical settings, and mentoring theses and dissertations.

She earned a bachelor's degree in education from Tokushima University. After that, she got a Master's Degree in Nursing and a PhD in Medicine at Kagawa University.

Her PhD project focused on hemodynamic changes in mothers' breasts and frontal cortex during breastfeeding.

Research Interest:

- The interaction between mother and infant
- Pediatric nursing education
- Children and their family with chronic disease
- Improvement of nursing researchers' academic writing skill